Huntsville City Councilman Bill Kling is conducting an issues survey in order to be a more effective elected official.

“I appreciate the feedback concerning areas that can be improved, as well as hearing new ideas,” Kling remarked.

Previously recommended ideas that Councilman Kling has followed-up on include the creation of wireless internet in Big Spring Park, earmarking large amounts of road resurfacing money for neighborhood streets, attention given to needed neighborhood traffic calming measures, and the creation and posting of ‘NO LOUD CAR STEREOS’ signs near residential areas.

During the month of March, Councilman Kling will be distributing survey postcards at area restaurants, the Public Library, and at City Hall. Additionally, survey postcards will be distributed at meetings of area civic clubs.
